

PAN-PACIFIC LUAU TONIGHT OPENS CARNIVAL FEATURES

FESTIVITIES BEGIN TODAY AND GAY CARNIVAL WILL FOLLOW AFTER

Sale of Leis Starts Festivities; Dedication of Arch and Luau This Evening

While the Mid-Pacific Carnival program does not really begin until Monday afternoon, a number of closely allied events and attractions are scheduled to start the week of festivities today and this evening. Chief of these is the opening of the Pan-Pacific pavilion on Bishop square, opposite the Young Hotel, and the unveiling of the peach arch over the main entrance of this large plastic semi-pergola, which was erected by Alexander Hume Ford, vice-president of the Pan-Pacific Club, for the Carnival celebration.

Luau Follows Unveiling
Judge Sanford B. Dole is to be one of the speakers who will make an address at the unveiling of the peach arch at the pavilion at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Shortly after the unveiling ceremonies, at 6 o'clock, a banquet will be given in the two wings of the pavilion, which it is expected will be attended by fully 500 people, representatives of all the races in Hawaii.

Dioramas Placed on View
Following the banquet, the seven dioramas, depicting the "Seven Scenic Wonders of Hawaii," which have been painted by Twigg Smith, Lionel Weiden, D. Howard Hitchcock and a number of assistants, will be exhibited for the first time under the changeable gas lights, installation of which was completed today.

Girls Sell Many Leis
Another event today was that of the sale of Carnival leis by the young women of the Kunalu Rowing Club. At noon 50 of the club members and their friends loaded with leis secured at the central distributing point, at the entrance of the Odd Fellows building, spread out through the business section of Honolulu to dispose of the leis.

The Carnival directors urge that everyone purchase one of the leis, particularly in order to show the proper Carnival spirit, and also to help carry out one of the old and pretty customs of the Hawaiian people. The proceeds of the sale of leis is to go to the Kunalu Club which wishes to buy a new rowing barge. The leis are of silk and paper and of the Carnival colors of yellow and green.

Old Stage Coach Here

The first event on the Carnival program for Monday afternoon, which has been declared a half-holiday by the retail and wholesale establishments of Honolulu, is the attack and hold-up of the old Overland Wells, Fargo stage coach, which was brought here by the express company to be used in the Carnival show. At 2:30 o'clock Monday the stage is due to pass the intersection of Merchant and King street, near the Palace square, where a Wild West band of Indians will swoop down upon it in much the same manner as frequently occurred in the frontier history of the western states of this country.

Pageant Starts at 3

Expected to be by far the greatest parade ever given in Honolulu, the Pan-Pacific pageant will start from near Fort Armstrong on the waterfront at 3 o'clock with something like 100 artistic and attractive floats depicting customs, manners of the people and incidents of the history of Hawaii and other Pacific lands. For three months a large staff of workmen, under the direction of Gordon Osborne, the sculptor, and Alexander Hume Ford, the pageant director, have been engaged in constructing the floats, none of which cost less than $100.

Bleachers for the spectators of the pageant will be erected at the Palace square, where reserved seats for the event may be secured for twenty-five cents.

Ball of Nations Follows

In the evening following the parade, the Ball of All Nations is to be the final entertainment event of the opening Carnival day. A platform for the dancing, a selection of the folk dances of European and Oriental races, will be erected in Palace square, as well as bleachers for the spectators. Interspersed with the folk dances will be numbers for all of the public present which desire to dance. The program for evening is as follows, beginning at 8 o'clock:

Grand March, American National, Public Waltz, Russian National, Public One Step, Korean National, Hawaiian Hula, Public One Step, Irish National, Japanese National, Public One Step, Scotch National, Public One Step, American Society Dance, Portuguese National, Public Melody and National Anthem.

The committee in charge of the Ball of All Nations is as follows: James A. Dunbar, chairman; Neil R. Slattery, Arthur H. Myhre and George McKinlay.

Artists Who Love Hawaii Create Dioramas of Fine Effect For Pan-Pacific Building

SHOWS UNDER CANVAS PROVE TO BE BIG MAGNET DRAWING TO AALA PARK

Menagerie, Performers and Side Open Tonight; Children Seek for Advance Peeks

Kids, kiddies and kidlets, excited and expectant; little ones and big ones, the ever infatigable circus company, are on the job today to guide chance strangers to Aala park where the white tops of the Carnival circus have been pitched for the big fun and entertainment show of the Mid-Pacific Carnival is to open this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

As a matter of fact the kids have been on the job, much to the amusement and often to the annoyance of the circus men, ever since the Wilhelm arrived early this week with the golden menagerie and circus entertainers. Kids of all ages and all races, some washed and some unwashed, but all brothers and sisters, have been swarming all over the park in an attempt to get a peep at the lions, the monkeys, the freaks and Sallie, the chimpanzee.

Children Swarm to Park
But their efforts have been somewhat handicapped by the requirements of school hours and a cruel truant law until today. But this is a school holiday and to say that Aala park is swarming with kids is to speak moderately. It is literally alive with them and all over town there are hundreds of others who are begging promises to be taken to the "Kid Joyland" tonight.

It was Mayor Lane who induced Kahanamoku to act as the Hawaiian Carnival king, for he realized that there is perhaps no other Hawaiian whom the average visitor desires to see so much as Duke Kahanamoku. Although on account of personal reasons, he did not enter the Carnival swimming meet, tourists are still to have an opportunity to see him.

With a number of other Hawaiian youths, Kahanamoku will ride upon the first float of the Pan-Pacific pageant, which has been named "A Walkiki Wave." It is a representation of a huge billow, such as Jack London called a "Kanaka Wave" in one of his last stories of Hawaii. Kahanamoku will stand in the middle of a canoe slanting down the crest of the wave, while for and aft there will be two royal retainers. Other figures upon the wave float will be those of surf-riders.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Attorney Paul Bartlett will leave for Maui this evening on legal business.

On the ground of non-support, Nellie Mann has filed in circuit court a suit for divorce from Albert Mann.

The Central fire department was called to the rear of the Lewers & Cooke building on King street about 11 o'clock last night to extinguish a blaze in a rubbish heap. Only chemicals were used.

A petition for a passport has been filed in federal court by Miss Leone Ludson of Atlanta, Ga., who intends to travel in Japan, China, Korea and Manchuria, leaving Honolulu in the Shinyo Maru on March 27.

The supreme court has been notified that Circuit Judge J. Wesley Thompson has appointed John Hills, former police officer, as clerk of his court, succeeding E. M. Muller, resigned.

Considerable Kauai sugar arrived on the inter-island steamer Maui today. She brought 7410 sacks. Purser D. Kamaipili reports 17 cabin and 26 deck passengers arriving. He says the Kinu will arrive tomorrow with canvas and all the circus attaches have the "Barnum-esque" appearance of a life time spent in the white topped ring.

And all the attractions appear to be up to advance notices. At least the 30 odd tents on Aala park are proof that there is to be no lack of fun, chance and excitement for within every one of them is contained some element of entertainment.

Bigger Than "Three-Ring"
To begin with there are eight big shows—"three times as much as a three-ring circus carries," one enthusiast declares. Within the big shows which completely encircle the park are to be shown the menagerie, the freak and illusion shows. At either end of the central street there is a dance pavilion and a merry-go-round. Pitched in between the eight big shows are 24 smaller ones where all the old circus games and many a modern one will tempt the rickies and dimes of the visitor to the Carnival pleasure zone.

In the menagerie, Sallie—known as the $10,000 chimpanzee—is a strong rival of a lion, lioness and two cubs for popular attention, besides a number of monkeys and a porcupine, as rare a sight in Hawaii as a snake.

Illusions Deceive Onlookers
Then there are the illusion shows in which the "Spider Girl" is touted as a stunner almost as marvelous as the "Shadow of the Cross," both new ones so far as their titles indicate. These are only two of the illusion shows and there are half a score others, almost as many as there are games of fun and chance and dancing girls of varied nationalities.

In all, the Carnival circus is promising of much Carnival pleasure. The kids will return a verdict tonight as to whether its pleasures are equal to its promises.

10,000 bags more. The Likeli and Waite are reported by him to be at Kealia.

At 1 o'clock Friday afternoon the Associated Oil ship Marion Chilcott was towed into port. She took 21 days for the voyage from San Francisco, five longer than usual. A southeasterly storm, the same that broke up steamer schedules, delayed her. Captain Anderson expects to leave tomorrow for the coast. The Chilcott is discharging 15,000 barrels of crude oil today.

The crew of the big refugee German merchant steamer Pommern was busy Friday and today using the hand pumps to lift out of the freighter's engine room the water which leaked in from a damaged outlet pipe after the vessel's boilers were burned out early this month by order of her officers following the severance of diplomatic relations with Germany. The leak was repaired by U. S. Inspector of Boilers Thomas J. Heeney.

Ten persons were killed and injured by an explosion in a munitions laboratory at Spandau, Prussia. Imports of general merchandise to the port of New York for the week ended Jan. 12 were valued at $3,351,639.

The Ministry of Munitions issued an appeal for 8000 more women to work in munition factories in England.

Mainland Competes With the Islands In Swimming Meet

FROM THE faraway States the pick of the swimming champions have come to Honolulu to enter the races to be held next Thursday and Saturday afternoons as events of the Carnival. The place is the United States navy slip, foot of Alakea street; the time, 1:30 p. m. each day.

ONE HUNDRED and one persons have entered the races and diving contests, the lists having closed Thursday. Most of them are island folk, but the mainland has sent some of its strongest champions to dispute, in Hawaiian waters, the title we have won as the Mermen of the South Seas.

Masters of the World

WHEREVER ONE may go, he will find that the swimmers of Hawaii, trained from infancy, paddlers in the harbor almost before they could walk, riders on surfboards as youngsters of the States ride on sleds during the winter time, are acclaimed as the master swimmers of the world. For the resident of Honolulu, here is an opportunity to see his townfolk compete against the best of the mainland; for the visitor it is an opportunity to see the Hawaiian merman and mermaid in their own warm seas.

TICKETS for both races are on sale at the Hawaiian News Co. Reserved seats are $1 each. The meet has been sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic Union and it is in charge of William T. Rawlins, president of the Hawaiian association, A. A. U. The Carnival swimming meet always attracts the sport-loving persons of Honolulu and the Islands generally and the strangers from the States.

FOR THE first day, Thursday, the races will be: 880-yard swim; 75-yard swim for boys; 50-yard swim for service men; exhibition spring-board diving by Mrs. Aileen Allen, who has come to us from the coast; 100-yard novice; 200-yard breast-stroke swim; 100-yard swim; 50-yard for women; 100-yard for service men; 50-yard for boys, and service relay, six men, 100 yards each.

Second Day's Program

FOR THE second day, Saturday, the races will be: 440-yard swim; 100-yard for women; spring-board diving by Mrs. Allen; 50-yard swim for girls under 15 years; 50-yard novice; 220-yard service; 220-yard swim; 100-yard junior; 220-yard novice; high diving by Mrs. Allen; 220-yard for women; back-stroke swim; high diving and relay, six men, 75 yards each man. It would be well for those who intend to witness the race to purchase tickets, if they have not done so.

MR. RAWLINS has announced that during races no persons will be permitted to pass in front of the bleachers. This will remove a source of annoyance, for thoughtless ones sometimes spoil the view of others.

TICKETS for all the events of the Carnival still may be purchased at the Hawaiian News Co. for $5.00. Inasmuch as purchasers of single seats are taking many of the seats left by those who bought season tickets last week, there will be little opportunity to get the preferred seats if there is more delay.

OFFICIAL PROGRAMS of the Carnival go on sale today. They are ten cents each. The events in full for each day are included, with routes of parades, entries for the swimming meets, donors of floats, descriptions of the dioramas and other features.

CARNIVAL HEADS THANK HELPERS

The president and directors of the Carnival issued the following statement of thanks this afternoon:

"On the eve of the Carnival, the president and board of directors wish to thank the chairman of committees, the committeemen themselves, the newspapers, merchants, businessmen and general public of Honolulu, for their financial assistance, their unflinching industry and their inspiring optimism. Each year the Carnival grows bigger—more of a responsibility to the management, more of a burden to all its executive officers. It has been a pleasure this year to find that the quality and quantity of support given us has kept pace with the measure of our task.

"And now our task is done. It is a task for which we receive no remuneration other than the good opinion we strive to win from you. What becomes of the 1917 Carnival is now in your hands. The most elaborate preparations in the world must fall dead if they do not meet a sympathetic reception from the public at the events themselves and in the general spirit abroad in the air.

Chairmen of Committees
Pan-Pacific Day, Alexander Hume Ford; Ball of All Nations, James A. Dunbar; Hawaiian Day, Edgar Henriques; Night in Hawaii, Charles E. King; Hibiscus Show, Arthur F. Wall; Army and Navy Service Ball, Regimental Supply Sergt. Ernest W. Ely; 2d Infantry, Military Review, Maj. Gen. Strong; and department headquarters; Swimming Meet, William T. Rawlins; Lantern Parade, Y. Takakuwa; Masked Ball, Louis H. Davis; Children's Festival, Henry W. Kinney; Directors' Ball, Guy H. Buttolph; Water Pageant, H. N. Denison; Construction, O. T. Weber.

THREE NEW INSPECTORS OF ELECTIONS ASSIGNED

Three new inspectors of elections were announced this morning at the office of the territorial secretary to fill vacancies that have occurred since the last election. The three are as follows: Frank D. Crodon, chairman, 12th precinct, 5th district; Arthur Kahaawini, member, 12th precinct, 5th district; Clement Wong, chairman, 9th precinct, 4th district.

The president of the Austrian, Hungarian, Bulgarian and Turkish parliament arrived in Berlin.

DUKE WILL WEAR FEATHER ROBE

That Duke Kahanamoku, the noted Hawaiian champion swimmer, who is to be the Hawaiian Carnival king and lead the Pan-Pacific pageant Monday afternoon will wear a genuine feather robe, is the confident declaration of Mayor John C. Lane, chairman of the Carnival kings' committee.

A feather robe was the outward mark of Hawaiian royalty and Mayor Lane considered it appropriate that the king of Hawaiian swimmers should appear dressed as were the rulers of his forefathers when he appears as a Carnival king on Monday.

It was Mayor Lane who induced Kahanamoku to act as the Hawaiian Carnival king, for he realized that there is perhaps no other Hawaiian whom the average visitor desires to see so much as Duke Kahanamoku. Although on account of personal reasons, he did not enter the Carnival swimming meet, tourists are still to have an opportunity to see him.

SCHOFIELD TROOPS RECEIVE ORDERS TO COME TO HONOLULU

Troops from Schofield Barracks will generally participate in the Washington Birthday parade. The only ones to remain at the post will be the necessary guards and the 9th Field Artillery.

Orders for the movement of troops to participate in the Washington's Birthday parade were received at Schofield Barracks this morning. The 1st Infantry, now at Fort Shafter, will remain there and move from there with other troops to Honolulu the day of the parade. The 25th and 32d Infantry regiments will proceed by rail on the afternoon of February 21 and camp in the vicinity of Fort Shafter. The 1st Field Artillery and 4th Cavalry are to proceed by marching on February 20 and will camp in the vicinity of Fort Armstrong.

While in camp all men will sleep in pup tents. On the 23d the troops will return to Schofield Barracks by train or marching, as they left.
